

Does Your Boss Envy You?

by

Monica M. Burns

Does she shoot down every idea or suggestion that you have in every meeting? Does she constantly bury you in work or does she give you any work to do at all? Does she make sly remarks on your wardrobe, and you know that you look good? If so, your boss is an insecure train wreck waiting to crash!

Women are already judged for being too emotional in the work place and it doesn't help if your boss is both emotional and envious. She feels threatened by your looks, your job knowledge, and your confidence. She does not possess any of those qualities so she tries to incorporate intimidation into her management style. She feels that the intimidation she is trying to push off on you, makes up for her shortcomings in confidence. It only makes her look foolish and unstable.

These type of woman thrive on stress-filled environments and feel that if they have made someone physically sick, they have reached their quotas for the day. It is a sense of accomplishment for them. These women also contribute to the deaths of their own careers. The higher-ups are taking notice and waiting on her to hang herself. She takes the bait and eventually she's out-of-there.

We've all worked with someone who has tried to make our work days unbearable. Some of us have probably gotten sick from it also. You can either leave that type of work environment for your health's sake altogether, or you can stay and work to change the situation by talking with your boss or talking with her boss. Make your career life tolerable...it is possible!

Monica M. Burns

©2005-2006 Monica M. Burns. All Rights Reserved.

About The Author - Image Consultant/Fashion Stylist

Monica M. Burns is a Writer, Expert Author, and Image Consultant/Fashion Stylist. She is President and Founder of Fabulous Life Image Consulting. She is also Founding Editor and President of Monica M. Burns Inc. Publications and Fabulous Life Image Online Magazine. She is an Expert in her field with over ten (10) years of experience. She has authored several eBooklets and other reading information materials and is a featured Expert Author and Writer on many websites and in many In-Print and Online Magazines. She has also contributed to several poetic anthologies and won awards for her work.

If you would like to copy or publish any of this author's articles or other reading materials electronically or in print to your websites, ebooks, newsletters, ezines, or any other publications, you MUST include this Author's Byline and all of the Contact and Ordering Information.

Visit Her Websites At:

<http://thefabulouslife.tripod.com>

<http://fabulouslifeimagemag.sm4.biz>

<http://thefablife.weblodge.net>