

Unfashionable Mistakes Women Make

by

Monica M. Burns

Most women make the mistake of purchasing clothing that are too small, too big, or too outdated. Another mistake and the most crucial, is that some women never purchase clothing that accentuates and emphasizes their best assets.

If you have nice breasts and you know that they are your best assets, wear low-cut shirts that reveal a little cleavage. There is nothing wrong with wanting to look and be sexy. The people who complain about the level of sexiness displayed by others are the ones with the problem. You were blessed with it, use it! If your butt is your best asset, wear pants and skirts that emphasizes the shape of it. If your legs are your best asset, wear skirts to show the shape of your leg, and wear high-heels to elongate them. If you have a nice curvaceous body, wear figure flattering outfits that are tailored to fit your entire body.

Another common mistake most women make are falling victim to trends. Trendy outfits are great, but once the trend is over, what's next? You've spent all this money and can't wear your nice costly outfit anymore. If you are one who loves trends, fine; but I would recommend making the most of your purchases by choosing outfits that you can wear anytime, anywhere, and any day.

If you are a lover of high heels as I am, and I'm speaking of 4-Inches or Higher, make sure that you can walk in them. It is very embarrassing to see a woman wearing nice shoes, but she has ruined her whole outfit, because she is wobbling in her shoes. Practice first! Do not ever attempt to wear a high-heel that you are not yet experienced with, until you can walk Confidently in them!

Confidence is the key when choosing your clothing and also prevents you from making fashion mistakes. If you are a Confident Woman, you shouldn't have any problems choosing and wearing clothing that are accentuating & emphasizing your best assets, wearing tailored clothing to flatter your wonderful figure, and wearing high heels that are much taller than 3-Inches, and being able to confidently walk in them!
